

RACE RIOT AT WASHINGTON CULMINATE IN KILLING OF ONE WHITE DEFENSE GUARD BY BLACKS

Spontaneous Firing in Some Negro Districts Continues Until Early Morning.

MANY OTHERS WOUNDED

Sticks, Clubs, Stones and Knives Used By Combatants but None of Injuries Inflicted During the Encounters Are Expected to Prove Fatal.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Although there was sporadic firing of firearms in some of the negro districts until early this morning, the major casualties in last night's clashes between whites and negroes consisted of only one white man killed and another fatally wounded.

Scores were injured as a result of blows of fists, clubs and stones and the wounding of knives but in none of the cases were the wounds expected to prove fatal.

The man killed last night was Isaac B. Halbfinger and the seriously wounded was Benjamin Belmont, both members of the defense guard. They were shot down on the streets by a negro while doing duty in one of the black districts.

Approximately 1,500 troops—cavalry, infantry, marines and sailors—patrolled the streets and awaited in reserve for possible outbreaks, supplementing regular and volunteer police. Detachments of marines from Quantico, Va., and Regulars under command of Major General William G. Haan, from Camp Meade, arrived early in the evening and took up stations in various parts of the city or on the outskirts.

Last night's casualties brought the number resulting from the rioting, which began Saturday night, to seven persons dead, 11 believed to be fatally wounded and scores injured more or less seriously.

The only fatal outbreak resulted from the stopping of a negro by Hal-finger, a home defense guard. Hal-finger attempted to search the black, who drew a gun from his pocket and shot the guard through the heart.
Belmont, another home guard, like Halbfinger, armed only with a riot stick ran to his companion's assistance and he, too, was shot.

FIRES STILL RAGE

Thousands of Men Fall to Save Northwestern Timber.

By Associated Press.
SPOKANE, Wash., July 23.—Two thousand five hundred forestry service men, soon to be increased to 3,000, and hundreds of men in the employ of a timber protective association have failed to hold in check serious forest fires which were raging today.

Four Montana towns, Thompson Falls, St. Regis, Henderson, near St.
Regis, and Maiden, a pioneer mining camp, were menaced seriously by the flames. The blaze is within a mile and a quarter of Thompson Falls and citizens, ranchers and forest service employees were combating it. Forest Supervisor Baker stated last night the fire probably would be checked and Thompson Falls saved if the weather remains favorable.

A serious blaze was spreading over approximately 25,000 acres in the Madison national forest and threatened the property of one of the largest ranches in south central Montana.

ter, Miss Mary, and sons, Joseph and James McConnell, went to Pittsburgh yesterday to visit relatives and friends previous to leaving for New York to reside. Mr. McConnell having been transferred to that city some months ago to become assistant to the manager of sales for the interests nell was superintendent of the Sligo mill for some 16 or 17 years.

Miss McConnell, who has been employed in the Sligo office during the past year, lately as private secretary to the manager, was presented yesterday by the organization with a handsome diamond bar pin. Miss McConnell was one of the city's well known vocalists. She expects to continue her musical studies in New York.

PROUD OF CITY

S. A. Oppenheim Says Connellsville Is Foremost Again.

Writing to J. J. Driscoll, business manager of The Courier, Samuel A.
Oppenheim, a former local man now in the service in Palestine, says:

"Once more, Connellsville has shown herself to be a foremost city, with her successful Victory Loan and Home-coming celebration for the boys. The boys surely have done their part. Hope you all found the celebration up to expectations."

Mrs. Andrew Tober has received word that her husband, Andrew Tober, vice 11 months.

SERVICE MEN MAY SECURE REINSTATEMENT OF LAPSED POLICIES

If They Fail to Make Payments Another Chance Is Given Them.

Service men who desire to keep their government insurance in force must make payments promptly as soon after the first of each month as possible. If not paid within the grace period—before the last day of the calendar month—the soldier's policy becomes ineffective. But even that does not deprive him of the benefit of his insurance for the Treasury Department has made provision for reinstatement upon formal application.

When a soldier is discharged, the insurance premium for the last month he is in the service is deducted from his pay. The next month notice is sent him of the amount of premium due, accompanied by the following letter explaining what he must do to keep his insurance and outlining the advantages of government protection:

"The Bureau of War Risk Insurance has just received notice of your honorable discharge from the service.
Among the many matters, the adjustment of which has become necessary through your return to civil life, is that of the government life insurance you have been carrying. This, of course, is a matter which deserves your prompt attention, in order that you or those dependent upon you may not suffer through an oversight on your part. You will realize that the insurance you took to protect yourself against total permanent disability and your dependents in time of war is equally valuable now. Life is no less uncertain in peace.

"You hold a form of insurance marking the highest point ever reached by a government in the protection of those in its service. By no means can you afford to lose it. It fully protects you against death and disability, guaranteeing you an income if you should be totally and permanently disabled. The rate is lower than is charged by private companies for the same protection, because the government is paying a part of the cost.
The government policies are most liberal, and provision is made for discharge within a period of five years, to other forms offered by the government at a similarly low rate. As for reliability, the wealth of the nation stands behind every policy. During the time you were in the service your premiums were paid by deduction from your pay. Now that you are back in civil life you must send your premium payments direct to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

"Premiums are due on the first day of the month after your discharge and on the first of each month thereafter.
Premiums may be paid any time during the month and as far in advance as desired. If not paid within the grace period—before the last day of the calendar month—the policy becomes ineffective, it lapses. If this occurs, formal application for reinstatement may have to be made. Premiums may be paid by check, postoffice or express money order. They should be made payable to the treasurer of the United States and mailed to the premium receipt section, Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

"In writing for any further information, give your full name, rank and organization while in the service, date of discharge and certificate number."

BOY SCOUTS PUT ON COURT MARTIAL FOR THEIR GUESTS

Commissioner Witt Found Guilty of "Heinous Crime"
By the Jury.

SEVERE PENALTY IMPOSED

Six Lusty Cracks With the Paddle, Is What Jury Recommends and Punishment Is Administered With Due Ceremony; Vows He Will Get Even.

County Day at the Boy Scout camp at White Bridge yesterday was really Connellsville Day, for only city folks responded to the invitation to be guests of the boys. Seventy-one visitors were on hand, however, and the occasion proved an enjoyable one. A feature of the program was a court martial, at which Commissioner Witt was tried on the charge of committing a "heinous crime," found guilty, sentenced and punished.

The national Scout worker who was to speak did not arrive and the visitors were entertained by the Scouts, who outdid themselves in showing their guests a real lively time. Except for some rain that fell in the afternoon, the day was unmarred.

The Scout camp made a real impression on every person in the visiting party. Some realized for the first time just how far the movement had gone in Connellsville and saw where it is the best thing in a boy's life. The benefits of the outdoor life could be seen in every Scout in the camp. All were bronzed from the sun and many showed with pride their suburban shoulders. There is not a case of sickness in the camp and the only occupant of the hospital is Dr.
G. H. Edmunds, who is quartered in that tent. There are practically 80 boys under Commissioner Witt this week. Pictures of the camp and the Scouts were taken by Ralph Ward.

A real outdoor dinner was served the visitors and was thoroughly enjoyed. The campers have a good cook this year, in the person of Chef Tates, a colored man who served 18 months overseas with the 15th Engineers, and he is fattening up the boys.

The dinner consisted of meat, mashed potatoes, tomatoes, lima beans, peas, cold slaw, bread and butter. The Scouts got an extra course, being served with cake furnished by several of the women visitors.

During the morning the visiting men engaged in a baseball game against a team of Scouts. Judging from the playing the old timers couldn't come back, and the Scouts had them outclassed. C. A. Crowley, J. M. Young and W. P. Schenck all tried out on the mound without success. George Connell kept the dust off first base, with W. F. Underwood sliding around at short and Dr. C. W.
Utt covering the outfield. The combination didn't work well and the visitors gave it up.

W. P. Schenck, J. M. Young, Rev.
I. G. Nace and Walter Smith, who has charge of the camp athletics, had a high jumping contest. Rev. Nace looked first, with Smith second. Young outjumped Schenck, but the latter retrieved himself when he beat Young in a 50-yard dash across the campus.
At 11 o'clock practically everyone in the camp went swimming and about 1 o'clock dinner was served.

The feature of the afternoon was Commissioner Witt's trial. Walter Smith was judge, and neither of the paddles, a weapon which everyone in the scout camp respects. Twelve Scouts formed the jury.

W. P. Schenck, president of the Local Council, who spent Monday night at the camp, charged the commissioner with a most heinous crime.
He said the defendant had placed a score of big spikes in his bed beneath his blanket, which caused indescribable torture when he laid down. Schenck was his own lawyer and presented a strong case against the commissioner.

The commissioner's counsel was Brown Higbee and Grant Clarke. Rev.
Nace was called as a witness, as were Samuel Melnick and "Boote" Straub.
They presented a clear case against Witt and the jury was out only a few minutes until a verdict of guilty was returned, with the recommendation that the commissioner receive six cracks with the paddle. "Judge" Smith, however, said that since it was the first offense of the guilty party he would grant him leniency and sentence him to receive only five cracks.
The space was cleared and the commissioner, prepared for his punishment, with every crack came wild shouts of joy from the scouts and following every echo was a reminder from the commissioner to the jury as to what would happen them once again.

one of their number broke the tinest rule.

There were a number of other interesting cases to come up but the council had been delayed by the rain and the train came in before other accused parties could be brought to trial. Among these were a number of men visitors who were seen smoking on the campus. In several instances the stubs of the "smokes" were secured by the scouts and turned over to the court as evidence.

Before leaving the visitors gave three rousing cheers for Camp Wildwood and the Boy Scouts, and were in turn cheered by the scouts.

INDICATIONS POINT TOWARDS SUCCESS OF DAWSON CELEBRATION

Committees from Vanderhill, Dickson Run and the Township Combine Efforts.

At a meeting of the committees in charge of the Dawson, Vanderhill, Dickson Run and Lower Tyrone township home-coming celebration for its soldiers, last night in the Vanderhill hotel, indications were most encouraging for the success of the reception.

Preparations are being made to take care of the biggest crowd of visitors the valley has ever seen, and Frank Tarr promises that the ox roast, of which he is in charge, will be "some roast." The financial end of the big event is coming on nicely.
Three bands have already been engaged and a fourth wants to make a contract.

There will be no outside speakers, but there will be plenty of local oratory. A big gathering of soldiers is expected and the district will be thrown open to them. The various committees will meet every Tuesday night until the celebration.

Randall Coal company, will likely lose the sight of his right eye as the result of injuries suffered three weeks ago by a fall of slate in the mines.

Junction, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg in a fall of slate in the mines of the Washington Coal & Coke company at Star Junction.

NEW ROAD SURVEYED

Promise Given That Pennsylvania-Scott-dale Route Will Be Built by Winter.

Engineers are engaged in a survey of the proposed road from Pennsylvania to Everson by way of Valley works.
Stakes have been set along the greater part of the route.

Instead of making a circuitous route between Valley and Everson the proposed road will run directly across west of the coal tipple to Brown street, the main thoroughfare of the borough of Everson.

The work will be done before winter, according to promise by those in authority.

MEMORIAL FOR SERVICE MEN IS BEING DISCUSSED

What Form It Will Take Is Still Uncertain, But Some Action Is Sure.

OTHER PLACES PLANNING

Mount Pleasant Will Utilize Borough
"Diamond" and May Erect Shaft in Center, Requiring Trolley Lines to Form Loop; S. Connellsville Busy.

What form a memorial to the service men and women of the World War will take in Connellsville is being discussed informally but without any definite plan in view.

A suggestion has been offered that the city and the citizens of the city unite in a movement, the city through council to appropriate a fund, the citizens to raise the remainder by subscription or otherwise for the purpose of erecting a memorial hall.

While greater in cost than a monument, a hall would be an asset to the city and something that has been for years almost a necessity. Awarding of a contract for conversion of city hall into quarters for the fire department has only emphasized the need of a building for municipal purposes only. Such a building could be erected under this plan, it is suggested.

Actual construction of a memorial hall might be a year, two years or longer in the future, but now would be the time to launch the movement, it is maintained. There are various agencies for raising a fund to bear the citizens' expense and these should lose no time in getting to the task if it should be felt that a hall is the proper form of memorial.

The project has not been suggested in an official way. It is believed certain, however, some action will be taken before long along some line.

Mount Pleasant is going forward with preparations for a memorial. It is proposed, it is understood, to utilize the borough property at the Diamond for the purpose. Tentatively the plans provide for the erection of a shaft in the center of Main street, requiring the West Penn Railways company to arrange its tracks so that cars pass on each side. Use would then be made of all the borough property embraced within the Diamond for residential purposes. The whole would then be beautified.

Because of plans of its own Mount Pleasant opposed entering into a movement for a county memorial at Greensburg.

South Connellsville has made the greatest strides forward in its permanent memorial plans of any town in this part of the state. But for the delay in arrival of the tablet bearing names for the honor roll it would have been dedicated long ago. It is in the for most a granite shaft on the school grounds.

PLAYS HERE SATURDAY

The Boys' Band of the Loysville Orphans' Home, which is now making a six weeks' tour of Western Pennsylvania, will give an open air concert on the site of the old Fourth ward school building on Saturday evening at 7:45 o'clock. This band is composed of 41 boys whose ages run from 10 to 16, under the leadership of Prof. Clyde Maxwell Stauffer, the man who made the United States Indian band of Carlisle famous. The musical music of these boys is especially fine, and great throngs of people have gathered to hear them. At Tarentum the crowd was estimated at 10,000. One 10-year-old boy is a skilled young artist, and entertains the people with his free hand drawings. A free will offering for the support of their institution and its 276 orphan children is asked for at the conclusion of the concert.

While in Pittsburgh last week the employees of the H. J. Heinz company invited the band to play at the noon hour, agreeing to give them $15. After the concert was over the director was presented with $100, so pleasing was the program.

Later in the afternoon delicious refreshments were served. The favors were attractive paper hats. Mrs. Sherick's aides were Mrs. George Santmyer and Miss Mary Frances Sherick, the latter of Uniontown.

Is Your Blood Hungry For Iron?

Iron Is The Red Blood Food That Gives
You Strength, Energy and Power—How To Make The Test That Tells

Actual blood tests show that a tremendous number of people are weak and ill for no other reason than lack of iron. Iron deficiency causes paleness, nervousness, loss of appetite, a lack of strength and endurance and the inability to cope with the strong vigorous folk in the race of life—these are the sort of warning signals that Nature gives when the blood is getting thin, pale, watery and literally starving for want of iron. If you are not sure of your condition, go to your doctor and have him take your blood count and see where you stand or else make the following test yourself. See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two iron tablets (two of the famous Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People) and repeat the test. Next your strength again and see how much you have gained. By enriching the blood and creating new red blood cells, Nature's iron-enriched blood, rebuilds the weakened tissues and helps to induce nervous energy and power into the whole system. Unlike the older iron pills from products of Russia, this is easily assimilated; does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists. Sold in this city by A. A. Clarke.

Mrs. Wells of Petersburg Tells How.

Petersburg, Va.—"For two years my daughter suffered from a weakness and pains in her right side; at times she was so bad she could not do any work. For two years she was attended by the best physicians here, and both agreed that she would have to be operated on. I suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and at first she refused to take it, but finally consented. From the very beginning it helped her, and now she is entirely well, and telling everybody how much good it has done her."

Mrs. W. D. Wells, 228 North Adams street, Petersburg, Va. If every girl who suffers as Miss Wells did, or from irregularities, painful periods, headache, dizziness, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering.

Ambassador Fletcher Tells House Committee There Has Not Been A Single Arrest.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Henry P. Fletcher, American Ambassador to Mexico, told the House Rules committee today that since his appointment three years ago about 50 Americans had been killed in Mexico without a single prosecution being made by the Mexican authorities.

Replying to questions by Chairman Campbell Ambassador Fletcher said withdrawal of recognition of the Carranza government by the United States would only increase the turmoil in the southern republic. He added that he did not know of any revolutionary leader capable of establishing a permanent government.

Ambassador Fletcher said he had not noticed any special anti-American feeling in Mexico and explained that the presence of more American citizens there than other foreigners probably accounted for the greater number of outrages affecting Americans.

To Build Up Permanently Nature At Its Best As An Aid.

If you are weak, nervous and run-down from overwork, worry or any other cause would only realize that the summer months is the time to build up strength and vigor there would not be so many collapses and run-downs for the winter.

The plan is to follow a simple, plenty of rest and good wholesome food along with a strengthening tonic. Chasen-Vin, with its Iron, Magnesium, Hypophosphites, Nux and other strength-making ingredients, is the tonic we suggest. If you follow this plan carefully you will notice a wonderful improvement in two weeks time. But don't give up too soon.

The local agents for Chasen-Vin are C. Joy Heisel, Woodworth Bldg., and A. A. Clarke, 333 Pittsburgh St.—Adv.

Dessie Barriale and Don Alexander, in "Tangled Threads."

THE SOISSON.

"TANGLED THREADS"—A powerful production starring Bessie Barriale, the beautiful screen star, supported by Rosemary Theby, Nigel Barrie and others, is today's feature attraction. This is one of the best examples of the dramatic art that the screen has presented. The role defined by the author and further enlarged upon by the star and her director embodies the highest type of womanhood. The character of Mrs. Wayne wins the sympathy of the spectator in the opening scenes and holds it to the close of the picture.

Don Alexander, as always, the genuine little boy, impacting to the role of "Sonny Boy," the delightful characteristics of happy childhood. The production as a whole has been skillfully handled. A rather unusual attribute of "Tangled Threads" is the fact that the story follows the lead of its title. It tells of how Mrs. John Rutherford Wayne, a particularly noble and lovable character, is forsaken by her husband for Rita Kinslow, a Russian beauty of the fast set.

A supposed friend of the family, Philip Northrup, assumes the duty of telling Mrs. Wayne of her husband's unfaithfulness, and also takes her to a cabaret to witness the truth of his statements. Wayne, secures a divorce from his wife, wins the custody of his child. He marries the Russian and lives to rue it. The death of Wayne's second wife on a joy ride with Northrup opens the way for a reconciliation of the Waynes. A selected comedy is also being shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE SLEEPING LION"—Starring Monroe Salisbury, the popular star, and a selected comedy are being shown today. The former production is in five reels and is one of the best in which Mr. Salisbury has ever appeared. There is not a dull moment from the beginning to the close of the production. Tomorrow: Madge Evans, the charming child actress, will be presented in "A Home Wanted," a striking new World feature.

The story is unusual and gripping and is just as interesting to children as it is to grown persons. It is a typically modern story showing a typically modern girl doing the sort of things you'd expect from a lively enterprising youngster. The little star appears in the role of an orphan who thinks she will find a beautiful mother she misses so greatly. In the big house on the hill behind the orphanage. Does she find a mother there? Is she made happy by what she finds? You'll get the answers to these questions when you see this pleasing picture. A splendid cast has been gathered together to assist Miss Evans in the rendition of the play.

Capital of League of Nations

Geneva and the New Bridge

ALl roads here earth level to No 40 the same street. After the French revolution the city was the capital of a French department but in 1814 it became the permanent capital of the Swiss confederation. Since that time the history of Geneva as regards its foreign policy has been identical with that of the confederation.

PROTECT THE MIAMI VALLEY

Work of Protecting Immense Reservoir One of the Greatest Projects of the Kind

Were it not for the fact that the United States has been engaged in the greatest of world wars, the building of the Miami river dam and the flood prevention plan in the Miami valley would arrest the attention of the nation. Howard Fisher, of the Miami Conservancy district, is the man who is in charge of the project. He has been working on it for many years and has been successful in securing the necessary funds for its completion. The plan is to build a dam across the Miami river, which will create a reservoir of 100,000 acres. This will protect the city of Cincinnati from flood damage and will also provide a source of water for the city.

On Beautiful Lake Lemano
The city is the southernmost point of Switzerland. It is on the shores of Lake Lemano (called also Lake Geneva) and is divided into halves by the old and the new towns, the River Rhone. The number seven is used geographically in Geneva as it does in Rome. The latter city has seven hills, Geneva seven bridges. Geneva however is of but recent date compared with Rome. It is little more than a village of the Alps, a little town when Rome was mistress of the world. Julius Caesar took his stand there when he heard that the Helvetians (the Swiss of today) had decided to emigrate from their own country which they had come to consider as too cramped for their national growth.

"They shall not pass" was Caesar's watchword. And two thirds of the Helvetian people perished in a futile attempt to force the passage through the Roman province. It was the beginning of the Gallic war which lasted nine years and became the fulcrum by which Caesar raised himself to the position of dictator of virtually the whole civilized world.

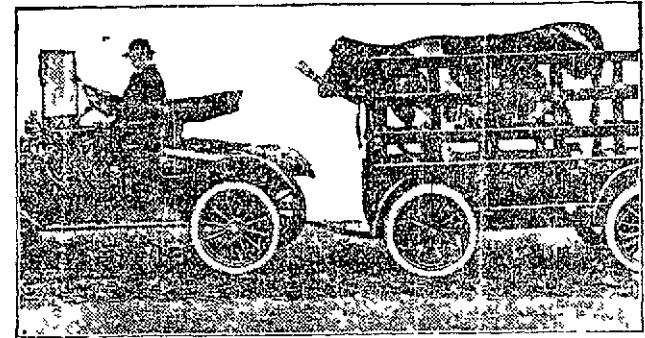

Birthplace of Rousseau
Few cities have produced so many illustrious sons or been the arena for the activity of so many great men as Geneva. Jean Jacques Rousseau was born there. And it is no small coincidence that the city of his birth should have been chosen as the capital of a league of nations of a democratized world. For to no other man does democracy owe a greater debt than to Rousseau. His pen was the flint which first set theories a towering edifice began to decay beneath the corroding assaults of reason which he leveled at the divine rights upon which royal prerogatives were based. Lord Byron's noble tribute to both Geneva and Rousseau constitutes almost the entire theme of the third canto of his magnificent "Childe Harold."

The same great poet has also celebrated the misfortune of another in even in the well known poem of "The Prisoner of Chillon." Chillon is a castle on top of a crag which rises perpendicularly nearly 1,000 feet above Lake Lemano. Here early in the fifteenth century Francois de Bonivard, prior of St. Victor was imprisoned.

Where Calvin Ruled
In 1532 William Farel, a Protestant preacher from Dauphine, who had just won Valais a Swiss canton to Protestantism made his appearance at Geneva. His success was so considerable that he established his home there and in the following year Geneva entered into the religious relations with the Swiss city of Bern, which had embraced Protestantism. Farel's reign in Geneva was not without its share of bloodshed. On August 18, 1573, Calvin was killed by a mob of Catholics.

RIGHT HERE IS PRACTICAL SOLUTION OF DIFFICULT SHORT-HAUL PROBLEM

Going to Market Quickly and Comfortably

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)
Hauling farm produce to market in motor vehicles represents one means of the successful solution of the short haul problem, one of the most difficult problems which confronts the transportation expert.

The future of railroads to keep pace with the expansion of the short haul business, the development of the producing areas adjoining the larger cities in proportion to the production demands of them, and the upbuilding of the motor truck, manufacturing activities as well as the recent war emergency or else have popularized this method of moving farm products to market.

First Make Study of Conditions
Farmers have made mistakes which could teach valuable lessons for their successors. For example, too many ambitious motor men buy their truck first and then make a study of the conditions.

ADVICE ON BUYING TRUCK

There are several sources of information which may be helpful to the man contemplating the purchase of a motor truck.

Previous personal experience of the operator is exceedingly valuable. Experiences of other operators may often be secured for the asking. Motor truck manufacturers will be glad to furnish prospective purchasers with such information of this nature as may be available. Data secured from truck manufacturers are very often of great value, but the owner should not be misled by the figures which are given.

Information thus offered is usually an honest attempt to aid buyers, but almost invariably there is too much generalization to make such figures a very valuable basis of estimation. Many cost estimates issued by truck companies do not take into consideration the varying classes of highways over which trucks run, variations in the load, total monthly or yearly mileage and other important factors.

A bulletin recently issued by the United States department of agriculture bureau of markets, "Motor Transportation for Rural Districts," will aid the prospective operator. It will be sent free on request.

local conditions and the prospects for the development of a profitable and permanent hauling business in the communities. They neglect to inventory such critical conditions as the volume of farm products produced along the contemplated routes, the volume of miscellaneous hauling supplementary to regular loads, the character of the highways over which the trucks must run. A motor truck route established in a sparsely settled or nonproductive region is foredoomed to failure. At least a potential supply of commodities must be available for hauling if there is to be sufficient business to make the route a paying one. A region devoted to the production of a few staple crops which move to market during a comparatively brief season will not provide business for a permanent route. For successful operation a reasonably dependable tonnage is essential throughout the year.

SAFETY FIRST

First assume that you must look out for yourself and the other fellow too. Don't rely wholly on the other fellow to do the right thing and you'll be on your guard. He does the wrong thing and ready for the emergency.

Do not cut the corners in turning but keep well to your side of the street and look both ways before you make the turn.

Put on a hand as a guide to the car following or approaching.

In passing a slower moving vehicle pass it on your left but in passing a street car always keep to the right.

Do not follow another vehicle too closely. It might stop suddenly.

Dim your lights when approaching another auto on the road.

Use common sense at all times and you'll save trouble for yourself and the other fellow.

JACK QUINN IS 'COME BACK'

Pitcher Who Was Failure With Yankees Some Years Ago, Now Regarded as Winner

Jack Quinn, who was a failure with the New York Yankees nine years ago, is shaping up now as one of the best mound prospects. Bill Huggins, manager of the 1931 campaign, Quinn used to have only a splitter and not much of one at that. Now he is a giant weighing 210 pounds and has developed a murderous fast ball which enabled him to win half a dozen games for the White Sox toward the end of last season.

Quinn is a veteran in the big mound. His experience should prove a great aid to him. Quinn is a veteran in the big mound. His experience should prove a great aid to him.

MUFFS FIRST FLY IN TWELVE YEARS

Those fans who saw Larry Doyle set himself squarely under a porcupine from the bat of Casey Stengel in the last inning of a recent game between the Giants and Pirates, got the bill in his hands and allowed it to slip through his clutching fingers to the ground, are hereby informed that they witnessed a very rare thing. It is the specific Doyle had not made an error of just that sort for twelve long years—that is, he had committed a fly ball under which he had been to set himself for the catch. He blundered his recent detection in the fact that he did not get a receiver from the injury to his head. His head he saved fairly swam as he scrambled head over heels under the loop of a net and he was so dizzy that he could hardly get his fingers on the ball to save him from being hit by it.

"I'm not sure he's wrong about automobiles," he said. "With all their speed forward they may be a step backward in civilization—that is, in spiritual civilization. But automobiles have come, and they bring a greater change in our life than most of us suspect. They are going to alter war, and they are going to alter peace. I think men's minds are going to be changed in subtle ways because of automobiles; just how, though, I could hardly guess. Perhaps, ten or twenty years from now, if we can see the inward change in men by that time, shouldn't be able to defend the gasoline engine, but would have to agree with him that automobiles 'had no business to be invented.' He laughed good-naturedly and, looking at his watch, apologized for having an engagement which made his departure necessary when he would much prefer to linger, and left them at the table. Isabel turned wondering, hurt eyes shoulder and her eyes thoughtfully lowered, so that her wish to say something more than good-night was evident. Not less obvious was her perplexity about the manner of saying it; and George, divining her thought, amiably made an opening for her. "Well, old lady," he said, indulgently, "you needn't look so worried. I won't be tactless with Morgan again. After this I'll just keep out of his way."

"Dear," she said. "I wish you'd tell me something. Why don't you like Eugene?" "Oh, I like him well enough," George returned, with a short laugh, as he sat down and began to unlace his shoes. "I like him well enough—in his place."

"No, dear," she said hurriedly. "I've had a feeling from the very first that you didn't really like him—that you really never liked him. I can't understand it, dear; I don't see what can be the matter."

"Nothing's the matter." This easy declaration naturally failed to carry great weight, and Isabel went on, in her troubled voice: "It seems so queer, especially when you feel as you do about his daughter."

At this, George stopped unlacing his shoes abruptly, and set up. "How do I feel about his daughter?" he demanded.

"Well, it's seemed—no it—no it—Isabel began timidly. "It did seem—At least, you haven't looked at any other girl ever since they came here, and—certainly you've seemed very much interested in her. Certainly you've been very great friends?"

"Well, what of that?" "It's only that I'm like your grandfather: I can't see how you could be so much interested in a girl and—and not feel very pleasantly toward her father."

"Well, I'll tell you something," George said slowly, and a frown of concentration could be seen upon his brow, as from a profound effort at self-examination. "The truth is, I don't believe I've ever thought of the two together, exactly—at least, not until lately. I've always thought of Lucy just as Lucy, and of Morgan just as Morgan. I've always thought of her as a person herself, not as anybody's daughter. If I have a friend, I don't see that it's incumbent upon me to like my friend's relatives. Now, suppose I have certain ideas or ideals which I have chosen for the regulation of my own conduct in life. Suppose some friend of mine has a relative with ideas directly the opposite of mine, and my friend believes more in the relative's ideas than in mine: Do you think I ought to give up my own just to please a person who's taken up ideas that I really dislike?"

"No, dear; of course people can't give up their ideals; but I don't see what this has to do with dear little Lucy and—"

"I didn't say it had anything to do with them," he interrupted. "I was merely putting a case to show how a person would be justified in being a friend of one member of a family and feeling anything but friendly toward another. I don't say, though, that I feel unfriendly to Mr. Morgan. I don't say that I feel unfriendly to him, and I don't say that I feel unfriendly; but if you really think that I was rude to him tonight—"

"Just thoughtless, dear. You didn't see that what you said tonight—"

"Well, I'll not say anything of that sort again where he can hear it. There, isn't that enough?"

"But, George," she said earnestly, "you would like him, if you'd just let yourself. You say you don't dislike him. Why don't you like him? I can't understand at all. What is it that you lo—"

"There, there," he said. "It's all right, and you toddle along."

"But, George—"

"Now, now! I really do want to get to bed. Good-night, old lady."

"I'm going to bed, old lady; so good-night."

Thus the interview closed perforce. George kissed her again before going slowly to her own room, her perplexity evidently not dispersed; but the subject was not renewed between them the next day or subsequently. Nor did Fanny make any allusion to the cryptic approbation she had bestowed upon her nephew after the Major's "not very successful little dinner," though she annoyed George by looking

WAS ADVISED TO USE NERV-WORTH BY TWO DOCTORS

Charles F. Johnson Makes Significant Signed Statement.

Mr. Johnson says that when advising himself and wife to take Nerv-Worth the doctors spoke of it as "fine medicine." Here is the story as given to the Columbus Nerv-Worth druggist not long ago:

The Mykrazz Co.—My wife and I have used Nerv-Worth with wonderfully beneficial results. She has been troubled for years with severe nervousness. Pains in the back of her neck. Stomach and digestion in bad shape. Restless at night and very much run down.

I had serious nervous trouble. Tensed about the head all night long and worn out by morning and it was pulling me down in strength and something had to be done to get relief, as it was affecting my eyesight. We both found it in Nerv-Worth, which put us in good shape and did it quick. It is a wonderful medicine and tonic and rid us of all our nervous troubles. We both eat and sleep well and enjoy good health. We recommend Nerv-Worth to all. It was recommended to us by two doctors.

George Was Never More Furious.

at him often and longer than he cared to be looked at by an aunt.

He successfully avoided contact with Lucy's father, though Eugene came frequently to the house, and spent several evenings with Isabel and Fanny; and sometimes persuaded them and the Major to go for an afternoon's motoring. He did not, however, come again to the Major's Sunday evening dinner, even when George Amberson returned. Sunday evening was the time, he explained, for going over the week's work with his factory managers.

When Lucy came home the autumn was far enough advanced to smell of burning leaves, and for the annual editorials, in the papers, on the purple haze, the golden branches, the ruddy fruit, and the pleasure of long tramps in the brown forest. George had not heard of her arrival, and he met her, on the afternoon following that event, at the Sharoons, where he had gone in the secret hope that he might hear something about her. Janie Sharon had just begun to tell him that she heard Lucy was expected home soon, after having "a perfectly gorgeous time"—information which George received with no responsive enthusiasm—when Lucy came demurely in a proper little autumn figure in green and brown.

Her cheeks were flushed and her dark eyes were bright indeed; evidences, as George supposed, of the excitement incidental to the perfectly gorgeous time just concluded; though Janie and Mary Sharon both thought they were the effect of Lucy's having seen George's runabout in front of the house as she came in. George took on color, himself, as he rose and nodded indifferently; and the hot suffusion to which he became subject extended its area to include his neck and ears. Nothing could have made him much more indignant than his consciousness of these symptoms of the icy-indifferonce which it was his purpose not only to show but to feel.

She kissed her cousins, gave George her hand, said "How do you do," and took a chair beside Janie with a composure which augmented George's indignation.

"How do you do?" he said. "I trust that ab—I trust—I do trust—"

He stopped, for it seemed to him that the word "trust" sounded idiotic. Then, to cover his awkwardness, he coughed, and even to his own ears his cough was ostentatiously a false one. Lucy sat silent and the two Sharon girls leaned forward, staring at him with strained eyes, their lips tightly compressed; and both were but too easily diagnosed as subject to an agitation which threatened their self-control. He began again:

"I trust—I hope you have had a pleasant time. I trust—I hope you are well. I hope you are extremely—I hope extremely—"

"I beg your pardon?" Lucy said. George was never more furious; he felt that he was "making a spectacle of himself," and no young gentleman in the world was more loath than George Amberson Miniver to look a figure of fun. And while he stood there, undeniably such a figure, with Janie and Mary Sharon threatening to burst at any moment, if laughter were longer denied them, Lucy sat looking at him with her eyebrows delicately lifted in casual, polite inquiry. Her own complete composure was what most galled him.

"Nothing of the slightest importance," he managed to say. "I was just leaving. Good-afternoon!" And with long strides he reached the door and hastened through the hall; but before he closed the door he heard from Janie and Mary Sharon the outburst of wild, irrepressible emotion which his performance had inspired.

PHILADELPHIA REDEEMED FROM CLUTCHES OF CONTRACTORS AND BOSSES BY NEW CHARTER

Senator Boies Penrose

Gov. Wm. C. Sproul

Clinton Rogers Woodruff

Philadelphia is emerging from the clutches of contractor and boss rule under a new form of government provided by a new charter and bills passed by the Pennsylvania legislature and signed by Gov. Wm. C. Sproul. The new legislation, which was approved by all the commercial and civic associations of Philadelphia, and was supported by all the newspapers of the city, was backed by Senator Boies Penrose, to whom is given credit of putting it through the legislature. The Senator spent a considerable part of his time in Harrisburg organizing sentiment for the reform measures.

In a public review of the legislation, Clinton Rogers Woodruff, for 25 years secretary of the National Municipal League, declares the new charter is a long step forward in city administration. Instead of a double body of 148 men, elected from easily controlled pocket boroughs, the new council has 21 members, each of whom is to receive a salary of $4,500 a year. New registration laws prevent padding of voting lists.

December 15th, each year, the mayor must present a financial budget for the ensuing year, within which the council must keep the financial program.

Dual office holding is abolished and police and firemen are placed under civil service.

Contractors who have dominated Philadelphia politics are thwarted by provisions requiring the city to do all street repaving, street cleaning and collection of ashes and waste, rubbish and garbage. The bureau of health is made a department and a Department of Public Welfare established. The purpose of the new reform bills is to overcome the barriers of political organization and to compel party leadership to respond to the popular will. The legislation was regarded of such importance that the signing of the bills was made a spectacular occasion, at which many of the foremost men of Pennsylvania were present.

McINNIS ONE OF BASEBALL'S WONDER MEN NOT BUILT ACCORDING TO STANDARD

Nifty First Baseman of Boston Red Sox.

John (Stuffy) McInnis, first baseman of the world's champion Boston Red Sox, has been for many years now past one of the striking wonders of the game. If one were looking for a first baseman among a crowd of unformed men on the bench McInnis is about the very last man he would suspect of class for the position. Physically he is a living refutation. In appearance, of everything a good first sacker is supposed to be in these times of highly developed specialties. To begin with he is a chunky looking fellow who belies his five-foot ten inches. He is somewhat deliberate of action off the field. His arms are short and he does not appear possessed of the reach or "stretch" which has come to be associated with the first base type. He is a right-handed thrower in a day when southpaws are in demand for the position.

Class of First Basemen. Yet McInnis comes very near to being the class of first basemen of the American League, a circle which boasts of a number of rare professionals of exceptional merit. Wally Pipp and George Sisler among them, the last two mentioned of the southpaw variety of course.

To begin with McInnis is one of the niftiest and surest infielders of the game, for if he lacks any way in physical handiwork he more than makes up for the deficiency in agility. And if he fumbles a wild throw now and then that a bigger man—a Chase or Pipp—might get he more than makes up the difference in the deadly punch he carries at bat. For McInnis is a 300 hitter in every accepted sense of the word.

Alaska will revive its twilight baseball league.

Old Bob Messenger goes on forever. He is leading the Pittsfield team at bat.

Hartford has taken on Outfielder Lester Simmons, released by Springfield.

Walter Hammond, who has been coaching Colgate College, has joined Pittsfield.

The veteran Eddie Sabiri is a late addition to the umpire staff of the South Atlantic league.

Ray Kennedy, Little Rock catcher, arrived recently from France and is at his home in Pittsburgh.

Old Bill Kay is still hitting them. A two-ply hit by the veteran won a game for Springfield the other day.

Pitcher Coffindaffer has been released from the army and is ready to twirl for Birmingham again.

Third Baseman Fred Brainerd, who quit the Providence team to fight the Germans, is back from France.

Jimmy Cooney has found a new berth for the moment. He is playing the infield for the Peoria Three I team.

Leisenring Whiteashes Bute.

The Leisenring nine journeyed to Bute Monday evening and defeated the Bute aggregation in a 10-inning game, 4-0. Bute had won 15 consecutive games, but the No. 1 boys proved too much for them. Monday's victory was the fourth straight for No. 1. Henry's new combination infield is working like a clock. The outfield also is exceptionally strong. With their present lineup the No. 1 boys are prepared for the strongest in the region. Pritchard, the Leisenring southpaw, is burling fine ball. With Bute, he has Monarch, Trotter and Continental on his string of victories.

SPORTING WORLD

Bill Brennan has consented to stay on as an umpire in the Southern league.

Caruso Fred Beck, lately back from France, has signed to play with the Peoria club.

Freshwater is the name of an umpire who has been calling them in the Three I league.

Art Ewaldt, former Des Moines third baseman, has arrived from overseas, and the management plans to use him in the outfield.

Lefty Bill James, as a pitcher for Galveston, shows signs of coming back to something like his old form.

C. E. Stevens, former Coast Western, Northwestern and Texas backstop, has been signed by Evansville.

Pete Adams, the Fort Smith first baseman, is playing great ball for Oklahoma City and seems to be a real find.

The western league is not the batters' paradise this season it used to be. There are frequent games with low scores.

The Oakland club has taken on Pitcher Harry Weaver from the Chicago Cubs on the recommendation of Rowdy Elliott.

Danny Murphy, who is handling the Hartford team this year, says that the Eastern league is going to play faster ball than ever before.

Jimmy Cooney, returning to Providence, is making a great hit, and Cooney himself shows no disappointment that he failed to stick with the Red Sox or catch on with the Detroit Tigers.

Los Angeles is elated over the acquisition of Ray Bates, for he was a star when with Vernon before he went to the Philadelphia Athletics, and it is figured he has not gone back any.
